

DAKOTA'S DAY.

Mr. Harrison's Reasons for Urging the Admission of the Southern Half of the Territory.

The President Still Refuses to Yield to the Demands of the Senate for Certain Information.

Serious Charges Against General Hazen - Work of the Committee - Other Capital Gossip.

IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Mr. Harrison (Ind.) spoke in favor of his passage yesterday. He said that the people of Dakota not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

Mr. Harrison then admitted on its own merits. He said that the people of Dakota were not cringing, but respectfully asked to be admitted as a State into the union. No man, he said, could suppose that the descendants of the men who in 1776 complained of the appointment of the officials by others than themselves, would long be content with the treatment of the affairs as territorial and colonial. The citizens of Dakota had been until late citizens of the several States, and had exercised all the privileges of citizenship. They therefore knew how valuable was the privilege of citizenship.

SLAIN BY GREASERS.

A Detachment of United States Troops, Under a Flag of Truce, Fired on by Mexicans.

The Fusillade Returned—Captain Crawford Killed—Other Losses on Both Sides.

Mexican Officers Claim the Attack Was Made Through Mistaking Americans for Indians.

A BLOODY AFFAIR.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—A telegram received at Presidio yesterday from Fort Bowie, A. T., signed by General Crook, gave the contents of a dispatch received by the latter from Lieutenant Maus dated at Nogori Sonora Mex., January 21. It states that the troops under Captain Crawford surrounded and attacked an Indian camp fifty miles south-west of Nogori on January 11. For two hours a running fight took place in which a number of Indians were wounded, but all escaped.

The hostiles sent word that they wished to hold a conference and while the troops were in camp awaiting the time fixed for the conference they were attacked by one hundred and fifty four Mexican soldiers. Efforts were made to let them know that the troops were Americans and friends, but with only sufficient success to keep the Mexicans at a distance. The firing lasted half an hour, when Lieutenant Maus succeeded in having a talk with the others in command of the Mexicans. He is told that the Americans were mistaken for the hostiles owing to the darkness, and the Mexicans signed a paper to that effect.

The loss to the Americans by the unfriendly attack on Capt. Crawford's command was four killed and six wounded, and two Indians slightly wounded. The Mexican loss was four killed and five wounded. Among the killed on the Mexican side is the Captain originally in command, Lieutenant Maus says that he believes the Mexicans expected to drive the Americans off with overwhelming force and secure a camp and the capture of the Indians.

Captain Crawford died on the 18th during the march to Nogori, where he was killed. He was unconscious till he died. Lieutenant Maus then assumed command. While the troops were in camp, two squaws entered camp through whom arrangements were made for Lieutenant Maus for a conference with two bucks of the hostiles. The wife of both General Crook and General Crook and a child of each a sister of the boy and a woman being given as hostages to Lieutenant Maus for the observance of peace until General Crook's return.

Excitement in Crete at the Approach of the Greek Fleet—Salisbury's Overturn in England Causes Rejoicing in Greece—Serbia and Bulgaria.

TURKEY AND GREECE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 28.—The inhabitants of the island of Crete, three fourths of whom are Greeks, are excited over the prospect of the arrival of a Greek squadron. There are only two Turkish war ships in Crete waters and they are stationed in Suda Bay. They would be unable to resist the progress of a Greek fleet. The Turkish garrison on the island numbers ten thousand men.

The Greek Government has informed Turkey that its fleet has gone on a cruise and will not visit Crete. Thirty thousand British troops from America have been ordered by Turkey to the front and the Turkish fleet is taking on board three months provisions and a large supply of ammunition. An Athens dispatch says that the Turks threaten the immediate invasion of Thessaly, and that it is rumored that the British fleet has arrived at Crete. The fall of the Salisbury government in England has raised the hopes of the Greek people.

The Servians are vigorously fortifying between Nissa and Pirot. The inhabitants living on the frontier have been ordered to withdraw into the interior, as it is expected that war will be waged in spite of the armistice. Servian troops are moving on the frontier and erecting barbed wire. Bulgaria has ordered the Servian frontier closed to traffic and the Servians are greatly irritated.

An Ice Gorge Sixty-Five Miles Long.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—The Mississippi river is blocked by a solid mass of ice from the point as far north as the mouth of the Illinois river and as far south as Ste. Genevieve, a distance of sixty-five miles. The ice is sixteen or seventeen inches in thickness, and resembles, in many respects, the gorge which blocked the river in 1875, and which remained intact from December 31 to March 2. This year the river closed on the 13th of January, and is expected to break up about the latter part of February.

Caught Way Down South.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—J. S. Gratz, who was recently a wholesale pedlar at No. 177 Madison street sold for $9,000 a stock of goods believed to be worth nearly $30,000, and fled the city New Year's day. Some pedlars' associations in the East traced him to Plattsburg, Tex., and he is on his way back, in charge of a detective.

Two California Murderers Lynched.

SUBSILLVILLE, Cal., Jan. 28.—Holden Dick and Vincent Olmas the former an Indian and the latter a Mexican, both convicted murderers, were taken out of jail Tuesday night and hanged to the beams in the woodshed in the court-house yard by a mob.

Water Pumps Stopped.

PRINCETON, Pa., Jan. 28.—The latest information from the coke regions is to the effect that the strikers have ordered out the engineers at the water pumps, and as a consequence all the pumps are stopped. This will cause the flooding of the different mines and great destruction to property.

TRYING TO COMPROMISE.

Committees Appointed by the Opposing Forces in the Ohio Senate and the Political State Postponed—A Test Development—A Test Meeting of Democrats.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 28.—A committee has been appointed by the Democratic and Republican senators to sit on the proposed amendment to the constitution, but with little prospect of any compromise. The amendment is proposed to give the governor the right to appoint and remove judges. The committee is to report on the amendment by the 1st of March. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

What the Democrats Said of the Amendment. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election. The amendment is to be voted on by the people at the next election.

Many Years

Mr. H. Foster, 220 Main street, Terre Haute, Ind., has suffered from Neuritis and found no relief till he used ATHIOPHOROS three or four days, the pain was all gone.

Some ATHIOPHOROS will not set as quick as others, but it is sure, and the more severe the pain the more quickly it will set. Athiophoros is absolutely safe and absolutely sure. Thousands who have suffered from Neuritis and been cured by the use of Athiophoros, prove the truth of this statement. Is it not worth a trial in your case? Ask your druggist for Athiophoros. If you cannot get it here we will send it to you as per receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he does not have it, we will send it to you as per receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he does not have it, we will send it to you as per receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle.

ATHIOPHOROS CO., 112 WALL ST., NEW YORK.

J. R. RACE & CO.

DOWN THEY GO!

FOR CASH ONLY!

LESS THAN COST.

25 Per Cent. Discount

On all Men's, Boys' and Youths' Heavy Overcoats; Beaver Coats; also a large lot of Men's, Youths', Boys' and Children's Suits, and a lot of Pants, to be closed at the same discount.

Heavy Underwear, Mittens, Gloves, Winter Caps and Cardigan Jackets will be sold on the same terms—25 per cent. off for cash.

The above sweeping reductions will close March 6, the date of our Annual Donation. You will receive a ticket for every purchase of $5.00 cash.

J. R. RACE & CO.,

129 and 135 N. Water St.

NOW IS YOUR TIME!

Our fiscal year closes February 1st.

On that day we begin our annual inventory of stock. It is still so large that, preferring ready cash to holding over stock until next season, we have determined to

FORCE SALES

And make more liberal reductions than ever.

We offer our entire stock of

DRESS GOODS, VELVETS,

DRESS GOODS MATERIAL,

CLOAKS, SHAWLS, BLANKETS,

SKIRTS, FLANNELS,

Corsets, Hosiery,

UNDERWEAR

At Less Than

Original Cost, or Manufacturers' Prices.

It will pay to buy for next season.

BIG 18 CHEAP STORE.

J. MORITZ & CO.

Merchant Street.

ACHES! PAINS!

"I ache all over!" What a common expression, and how much it means to many a poor sufferer! These aches have a cause, and more frequently than is generally suspected, the cause is the Liver or Kidneys. No disease is more painful or serious than these and no remedy is so prompt and effective as

MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS.

No remedy has yet been discovered that is so effective in all KIDNEY and LIVER complaints—Malaria, Dyspepsia, etc., and yet so simple and harmless. Science and medical skill have combined with wonderful results in the preparation of this Bitter, provided for the cure of disease. It strengthens and invigorates the whole system.

Hon. J. M. Smith, of New York, has published a Circular, which is a valuable treatise on the subject of Kidney and Liver diseases. It is a most wonderful combination of medicinal herbs.

MISHLER HERB BITTERS, CO., 525 Commerce St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup Never Fails.

HENRY LYONS

Dealer in

Staple and Fancy Groceries and Provisions,

154 North Merchant Street

Decatur, Ills.

Highest market price paid for country produce. Orders by telephone and otherwise promptly filled and goods delivered, by par of the city.

FIT'S STOPPED FREE

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Migraine, Sciatica, etc., are all cured by Fit's. It is a most wonderful combination of medicinal herbs. It is a most wonderful combination of medicinal herbs. It is a most wonderful combination of medicinal herbs.

Another Game for Sohofer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A billiard match between J. C. Smith and Maurice Vigor was continued last night. The former again winning. Thirty innings were played, the score being 600 against 500. The match was the highest in the history of the game.

Thirty Two Beavers Killed.

LETTI, Rock, Jan. 28.—An immense catch of beavers is reported from British Columbia. A party of hunters, including the Indian, have been successful in killing thirty-two beavers. The catch was made in the course of a few days.

Died While Pulling on His Boots.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 28.—Alex. R. W. Balfour, while pulling on his boots at the Opera House, at Ames, on Monday evening, fell forward, expiring instantly. He had pulled on one boot and had just begun to pull on the other. The cause of his death is supposed to be heart failure.

The Father of a Large Family.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 28.—John Warner, colored, died yesterday of a heart attack. He was the father of thirty-three children.

BARGAINS
—IN—
CLOAKS
—AND—
LADIES' WRAPS
—OF—
EVERY DESCRIPTION.
We will close out what cloaks we have remaining at lower price than were ever so d.

BEAR IN MIND THAT WE ALWAYS MAKE GOOD OUR STATEMENTS.
LINN & SCRUGGS.
Gents' Furnishing Goods,
Hosiery, Gloves, Corsets,
UNDERWEAR,
Wall Paper, Curtains,
Mattings, Linoleum
Oil Cloths,
CARPETS,
Etc., Etc.
Agents, Butterick's Patterns.

OUR NEW DIRECTORY.
We will present every lady purchasing goods in Decatur, who will favor us with her name and address, in person a Ticket of fifty cents, and a chance to win 25 prizes, namely—
1 prize of 25 yards best colored
1 prize of 20 yards best colored
1 prize of one $25 Cloak.
1 prize of $20 in gold.
1 prize of one pair best $8 Blankets
1 prize of one best $5 Parasol.
1 prize of one best $5 Rug.
5 prizes each of one best white $3 Quilt.
12 prizes each of one pair best $2 Kid Gloves
10 prizes each of one best $1 Cor set.
50 prizes each of One Dollar in Gold.
The Drawing to take place the First of January, 1887.
The prizes will be distributed under the direction of such persons as the Ticket holders shall designate.

LINN & SCRUGGS.

THE REVIEW

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 29

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

—The ice crop is about harvested.
—Several weddings in the near future.
—There are eight coal mines in Menard county.
—The Washburn pay car is expected here on Monday next.
—A weekly labor paper is to be established at Belleville.
—No police cases were reported by the magistrature yesterday.
—Very few theatrical companies have visited Lincoln this season.
—The engagement of the Equine Paradox closes to-morrow evening.
—In the past forty-eight hours Coroner Perl has held three inquests.
—The Niatic coal mine company now employs between fifty and sixty men.
—There are one hundred and five paupers in the Knox county poor house.
—Jim Lee is on duty as special policeman during the absence of Officer Bailey in Iowa.
—Telephone to J. W. Baker at Postoffice Book Store for clean Decatur coal. j9d1f
—A marriage license was issued yesterday to Jesse Cook and Miss Minnie Hardison, of Decatur.
—Up till date Rev. Harrison has had five hundred seekers at the altar, at his meetings in Springfield.
—The reward offered by the Business College students, has been raised to Ten Dollars. Who will be first?
—On to-morrow Santa Anna township, of Dewitt county, will vote on the question of issuing $11,000 bonds.
—Jesse Cook and Miss Minnie Hardison, of Decatur, were married yesterday afternoon by Squire Curtis.
—There have been no less than six or seven insane cases tried in the county court during the past few weeks.
—The quick and efficient work of the fire department on Wednesday evening has been generally complimented.
—A week from to-morrow evening Baker & Faron will be at the opera house with their new play, "A Soap Bubble."
—Photographs are classed with printed matter and may be sent through the mails at the same rate of postage.
—The Chinamen on South Main street are anxious to learn the fate of their countrymen now on trial at St. Louis for murder.
—Judge Hughes will open circuit court at Monticello on Monday. There are thirteen divorce cases on the chancery docket.
—New style hanging lamps, new prices that are satisfactory, and other new things, at Wingate's Central Block Lamp store. j2931w
—Chas. H. Hoyt, the absurd comedy writer, will bring out a new play in the spring, under the mysterious title of "A Hole in the Ground."
—The exhibition which was to have been given at the rink last evening by Boynton and McClure has been postponed until Saturday evening.
—One of the biggest audiences of the week, assembled at the opera house last evening to see the great horse show. Many people from the surrounding towns were present.
—S. W. Ford has filed his bond in the county court as guardian of Ora Miller, grand-daughter and heir of Joel Miller, deceased. The bond amounts to nine hundred dollars.
—The transaction given by the students of the O. B. C. is simple and practical. A number of incorrect solutions have been received. The reward has been raised to Ten Dollars.
—Alfred N. Clark, a young man residing in Long Creek township, went over to Piatt county the other day and took out a marriage license to wed Miss Addie Brightman, of La Place.
—A team of Norman horses belonging to Dillon Bros., of Bloomington, hauled a load on a sled the other day, which weighed over six tons. They started the load from a spot where there was no snow.
—It was reported yesterday among some of "the boys" who occasionally indulge in a friendly game of "two gun" that the grand jury had been looking after their cases, and would report a number of indictments.
—A team belonging to Stavler, and attached to a heavy platform wagon, ran away up East Main street yesterday to the old square. There was no harm done, but the dash occasioned a great deal of noise, and no little excitement.
—The new consolidated engines recently purchased by the I. B. & W. railroad company, weigh fifty-two tons each without coal or water. They are immense looking concerns, but can pull all the cars that can be hitched behind them.
—There was a good attendance at the social given in the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening, and the event was a thoroughly enjoyable one. An excellent musical program was given and was received with demonstrations of approval.
—The case of W. T. Roberts vs. the P. D. & E., was given to the jury yesterday afternoon, and that body was instructed to bring in a sealed verdict. They agreed about 6 o'clock and it is stated that the verdict will be in favor of the railroad company.
—In a fight the other day between Editor Miller, of the Prairie City News, and Attorney Lewis, the attorney ney was badly wounded. The press is mightier than the law, and it is always friendly to justice except when the occasion demands that justice be removed.

—The Lincoln Times says an effort is being made to get A. F. Smith of the State Sentinel to go back there and establish a prohibition daily paper. As an inducement the Times says he has been offered a thousand dollars and strong promises of a liberal patronage.
—John Zuger, aged eighty-four years, died at Orleans on Wednesday, and will be buried from the Union church in Whitmore township, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The deceased was well known in Whitmore township, and has lived in this county for forty-five years.
—It seems that the word of the J. J. Evans El-erie Light company of Ft. Wayne, is about as unreliable as the weather prophet. Last week they telegraphed that "our men will be in your city by Monday, 25, certain." If the men got here they have kept mighty quiet about it.
—Deputy Sheriff Fountain of Springfield was in the city yesterday with the colored female horse thief, Lizzie French, who was being taken back to the capital from Mattoon. Lizzie spent a few hours in jail here while waiting for the train. She has been behind the bars before.
—The forthcoming report of the department of agriculture will show that in the wheat crop of 1885 there is a deficit of five million bushels. Of the 102 counties in the state only 23 appear as reporting a surplus. This deficit is in conformity with the predictions made all along by the department.
—Don Stanley, a well known character in Decatur, was arrested and placed in jail at Sullivan, on Wednesday, with a couple of companions, on a charge of larceny. His home is in that town, but of late years he has spent most of his time in Decatur and has frequently figured in the police courts.
—The Quincy Journal of Wednesday says: "This afternoon Miss Nellie Ward was married to Mr. Charles Walker, at the pastor's study in the First Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Everett performing the ceremony. Mr. Walker is an engineer on the Washburn, with headquarters at Decatur, to which place the young couple go this evening."
—A very pleasant party was given last evening at the home of Miss Lou Michel on West Main street. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Michel, Misses Sallie McRoberts, Lena Gaebler and Anna Moffitt, and Messrs. F. W. Westhoff, Will Kearns, Will Minzy and H. M. Bragg. Card playing and dancing were features of the evening as well as a most elegant lunch.
—On Wednesday evening about fifteen couples of young people drove to the residence of the Rowe brothers two and a half miles northeast of Decatur in bob sleds. They arrived at nine o'clock and received a warm welcome from Mrs. Rowe and mother. Good music was in attendance and the young folks danced until long after midnight and got home about three o'clock yesterday morning. Splendid refreshments were served at the Rowe residence.
—The aldermen are gradually progressing with the street paving problem. The routes are now decided on and also the widths of the streets and the material. North Main street and Cerro Gordo will be paved with brick, and Franklin, William, Morgan and Eldorado with cobble stone. The city attorney has been instructed to have all the ordinances prepared for passage at the regular meeting on Monday evening. As soon as they are adopted the other preliminaries should be settled on and contracts for the work entered into, so it may be commenced at the opening of spring.
—The same men who predicted that the present would be an open winter are again putting their guesses into public print. This time they say that we are to have thunder storms during the last days of the current month and the first days of February. These storms will announce the approach of spring. March will be ushered in "like a lamb." The spring season will open very early. Heavy rains and damaging floods are predicted as possible. In the ordinary course of events, this means that we are to have a late spring, characterized by exceedingly dry weather.
—The state board of health has made an arrangement with the university at Champaign whereby the authorities of any city, town or village may have a chemical examination of their water supply made free of cost, except the expense of transporting the samples to the university. Those desirous of availing themselves of this opportunity should furnish at least half a gallon of water in an earthenware or glass vessel, securely protected against breakage. The vessel should be perfectly clean, should be rinsed out with the water to be examined before it is filled, and then tightly corked and sealed.
—The congregation and friends of St. John's Episcopal church greatly regret the fact that their rector, Rev. W. H. Moore, has tendered his resignation, the same to take effect on February 23rd. Mr. Moore has been in charge of the Episcopal church in this city for the past seven years and has always been faithful and devoted to its interests. Some weeks ago he received a call from the Calvary church, Chicago, on the west side, and after having given the matter careful consideration, has decided to accept the offer, which is indeed a flattering one as the Calvary church is one of the largest in Chicago. The resignation of Mr. Moore will be regretted by the citizens of Decatur generally, as he is a most excellent man and during his residence here has made friends with nearly every one.
—Another new swindle is being practiced on farmers, and is one of the latest yet brought to light by the press. A copy of a circular brochure, which is a cleverly contrived scheme, is being distributed by a traveling bible distributor, in the service of a religious institution, and he generally goes so far as to present to the family a handsome bible from a well-filled value. He is careful to say that his society requires distributing members to pay their own way, and exhibits vouchers for money so expended. After partaking of the good folks' hospitality he prepares to leave and asks for his bill. He is generally told that no charges are made but he calls attention to "the rules," and insists on paying twenty-five cents per month. Then he mildly requires a receipt on his bill, "as a voucher, you know," and gets the farmer to sign it. In ninety days there is a note from a neighboring bank to the pious farmer asking him to call and pay the note which he bought and which has the farmer's signature.

PERSONAL.
—Prof. H. S. DeSollar is in Danville on business.
—County Clerk Hardy was on the sick bed yesterday.
—Will Lea, of Illinois, is in the city visiting Robert Burns.
—John Swearingen made a flying trip to Harriestown yesterday.
—Ham Fenton expects to join his parents in Florida next week.
—Jacob Spangler is reported seriously ill with little chance of recovery.
—Miss Jessie Gillette, of Elkhart, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Parke.
—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schenck, of Marion, spent Thursday afternoon in the city.
—Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Jones, of Cerro Gordo, were in the city last evening.
—A. Gilliland, the Illinois Central agent at Maquoketa, was in the city yesterday.
—Theodore P. Baxter, of Taylorville, transacted business in Decatur yesterday.
—Miss Dora Howell, of Rushville, is in the city visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Gayant.
—S. M. Smyer, Sheriff Foster and Charles Walker of Sullivan, were in town yesterday afternoon.
—Reverend D. H. Conkling, of the Illinois Methodist, returned home yesterday afternoon from Chicago.
—Mr. Steen, of the Danville excursion agency of Steen & Gregory, was in the city yesterday for a few hours.
—Mr. Smadison, a prominent nursery man of Springfield, was in the city yesterday, accompanied by his son.
—Miss Annie Jones, of Delavan, returned home yesterday afternoon, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with Dr. and Mrs. McKim.
—J. L. Horke, a passenger conductor of the Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw railroad, was in the city yesterday, calling on his friends.
—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Morrow were in the city yesterday, on their way to Mechanicsburg, to attend a reception given in honor of young Mr. P. Kereall and bride.
—H. N. Wright, Dan McClure, J. A. Morrison and W. E. Rodgers, of Monticello, came down to Decatur last evening and attended the Equine Paradox.
—M. Knight, general freight agent of the Washburn, returned to St. Louis on the early train yesterday morning, after a brief business trip to Decatur.
—Miss M. L. Mosser, of Chicago, who has been visiting her brother, J. R. Mosser, of the Republican, left yesterday for Salem, to visit with her father for a few days.
—George W. Jones, esq., clerk of the appellate court at Springfield, was here yesterday to testify before the grand jury in some matter which as yet has been kept secret.
—General Traffic Manager Parker and Auditor Wildback, of the P. D. & E., returned to Peoria yesterday afternoon. They had been attending court here for several days.
—The newspapers of the city have had S. S. Jack in Washington for several days; but that gentleman thinks they must surely be mistaken, as he has not been out of Decatur.
—Col. N. A. White and daughter, Mrs. A. C. Waterhouse, went to Champaign yesterday morning, being called there by the serious illness of the mother of Mr. E. B. Niles.
—Mrs. T. W. Douglas, of Peoria, made a short visit to her husband, Passenger Director Douglas, at the Union depot yesterday. Mrs. Douglas returned home on the afternoon train.
—John Yeakle, formerly night clerk of the St. Nicholas, returned to Decatur yesterday, after an absence of several weeks. He has been playing advance agent for the Harvey-Nash roller skating combination.
—W. B. Brinson, A. A. McKee and Dr. Shaffer, of Tuscola, were in Decatur yesterday looking at various dwellings in the city, with the view of building residences in their own town the coming spring. They expect to pattern from some of Decatur's handsome ones. They were accompanied by Messrs. S. S. Goring and Chas. Cashford, the former a contractor and the latter a painter.
Assignee's Sale.
The stock of goods now in my hands must be sold for the benefit of creditors. If you want good furniture and stoves at very low prices, call at once. Must be sold.
j27d1w W. J. Brown, Assignee

MURDER AT TAYLORVILLE.

John Cabel Shot Down at a Social Dance.
Our neighboring city of Taylorville was the scene of a cold blooded murder last evening about 10 o'clock. A dance was being held at a house in the suburbs of the town, and while it was in progress a difficulty arose between several men. Before any one was aware of the fact a pistol shot whizzed all present, and John Cabel, a well known man, fell to the floor dead, the ball having passed through his body. Confusion immediately ensued, and the murderers succeeded in making their escape before an effort could be made to capture and shoot before the community could realize that a murder had been committed. Officers were at once notified and were shortly scouring the country for the murderers, but at eleven o'clock they had not been captured. Every train entering the city was searched and every precaution taken to prevent the perpetrators of the murder getting beyond reach. The man who fired the pistol is not known. Three parties who were quarreling with Cabel are missing and it was one of the three. They are all known to the officers. Cabel was a married man. The news of the murder quickly spread and created great excitement among the residents of the town.
Died Suddenly.
Coroner Perl was called to Friends Creek township yesterday, to hold an inquest on the remains of Mrs. Matilda Cary, an old lady seventy-six years of age, who was found dead in her bed about six o'clock. The deceased lived with her son, John Ferrell, four miles east of Marion. On Wednesday evening she complained of a difficulty in getting her breath, having for some time been troubled with her lungs. About eight o'clock she retired and that was the last she was seen of her alive. At five o'clock yesterday morning E. S. Rutledge, who works for Mr. Ferrell, went to Mrs. Cary's room to call her up, but receiving no answer, he went in and snuck her. It was then he discovered that she was dead and it once summoned Mr. Ferrell. When Coroner Perl reached the house he impelled the following jury and held an inquest: J. W. Mauley, foreman; H. J. Harrington, W. B. Carr, C. M. Currier, John Ferrell and M. O. Herrington. Rutledge and Edna and Rosa Ferrell were the witnesses examined, their testimony being corroborative of the above facts. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to her death from cancer of the lungs, but that they believed her death to be due to lung troubles.
Another Insanity Case.
The site of one of the county court yesterday afternoon was occupied with another insanity case. The victim this time was William J. Jones, a well known and highly respected young man of Warrensburg, whose mental faculties recently gave way. The inquisition was held upon a petition filed by C. H. Faith, Dr. J. D. Wheeler, F. McCarty, R. F. Jones, Ulysses Harrington, John A. Beckwith and George Dempsey, framed the jury. They found that the young man's mind was unsound and that he was a fit subject for treatment at the asylum. He is about thirty years of age and has only been ill about a week past. His ailments are a result of a business trouble. Young Jones thought at the trial that all of his friends who came down with him from Warrensburg, had been found insane. He was taken to Jacksonville on the afternoon train for treatment. His case is a sad one.
Grand Jury Indictments.
Yesterday the grand jury returned to Judge Smith a number of indictments. They found a bill against Al McGowan, Richard Morgan, Frank Kramer, John Hockingberry, Samuel Smith, Hobart Graves, John Caldwell, Willis Love, Henry Franks, Charles Sams, and Sprague McDonald, for attempted arson. The above named persons are all confined in the county jail and are either awaiting trial or are serving a jail sentence. Some of them are guilty of the attempt to burn the jail, which was made about a week ago.
Maud Villars, the comely little maiden who allowed her light-fingered inclinations to get her into jail, was indicted for grand larceny.
John B. Noce was indicted for carrying concealed weapons and also for an assault to murder and do bodily injury. He is still in jail having thus far been unable to give bond, although he is hopeful of yet doing so.
Birthday Surprise.
Yesterday noon a party of relatives, neighbors and friends of Mr. John Vance, surprised him at his home, two and a quarter miles northwest of the city, in honor of his being his seventy-eighth birthday. Mr. Vance was born in 1805 and is still in good health and spirits, retaining full possession of his mental faculties and much of his physical vigor. A big dinner was served and was heartily partaken of by the guests, among whom were the following: Mr. and Mrs. S. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Stickler, Mr. and Mrs. John Vance, of Forsythe, Mr. and Mrs. Schifferd, Mr. Nathan Vance, Mrs. Agnes Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lambert, Miss Dell Smith, of Lanes Station, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gring and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Koontz, of Clinton. Many valuable presents were bestowed on Mr. Vance, and the dinner party was a pleasant affair throughout.
Regular Meeting.
All members of the Carpenter's Co-operative association are requested to be present at the regular meeting on Monday evening, February first. Business of importance to be attended to as the president will tender his resignation to be acted on at that time.
A. Bowman, President.
G. W. Collins, Secretary.

NOVEL PENINSULAR.

Entirely New in Design and Construction.

THE MOST CONVENIENT STOVE YET PRODUCED.

Extra Large Fire Box.
Extra Large Flues.
Extra Large Oven.

Do Not Fail to See it Before You Buy.

—SOLD ONLY BY—
MOREHOUSE, WELLS & CO.,
134 E. Main St.

We have every Reliable Make of Watch sold by other dealers, and are exclusive agents for the Rockford and Columbus, two of the best watches made. When looking for a watch, don't fail to call on

W. R. Abbott & Co.,
The Reliable Watch Dealers.

A FEW REASONS

---WHY---
You Ought to Have Your Work Done at NORMAN'S!

If you want a hair-cut that you will not be ashamed of.

He is paying the highest wages that are paid in the state, consequently he has the best barbers that are to be had.

You are all treated alike—it does not matter if you are millionaires or only have money enough to pay for your shaves.

NORMAN'S 10-CHAIR BARBER SHOP,
One Door East of Postoffice, Decatur, Illinois.

Hair Cutting, 25 cents. Shaving, 10 cents.

us or see us regarding the above property. Persons who desire to sell or exchange farms or town property in the shortest possible time give us a call. No charge for anything unless a sale or trade is made.
ODOB & STEVENS,
 Merchant Street, Decatur, Illinois.